Our Approach

We provide rattan products left in their natural state and prepared for final finishing. By offering unfinished products, we empower clients to create one-of-a-kind pieces that are tailored to their specific color and sheen tastes. We do offer in house, matte or semi-gloss lacquer finishes if of interest.

Clients work with their preferred finisher to choose the stain or paint finish of choice which provides the freedom to either complement existing decor or create a unique and personalized finish. This flexibility is of high value to clients that value customization and individuality.

Easy Luxury

Handcrafted Rattan Millwork

Rattan is a natural, fast growing vine material known for its strength and flexibility, making it an excellent choice for crafting various architectural elements such as furniture, accessories and now, an industry first, Millwork Collection inspired by our Treillage Collection. Our craftsmanship and attention to detail results in high-quality, design enhancing products

Collection of Panels, Tiles, Borders and Corners

The product line is divided into four main categories: Panels, Tiles, Borders and Corners. Each of the elements plays a distinct role in architectural design.

Artistic Value

Rattan millwork has inherent beauty and adds a natural and warm touch to interior or exterior spaces. Its use can contribute to the overall aesthetics and ambiance of a room, elevating the design to a higher level.

Versatility

Depending on the design and application, rattan millwork can be used in various architectural styles, from traditional to contemporary, bringing a touch of natural sophistication to any environment.

Sustainability

Rattan is a renewable resource, making it an eco-friendly choice for architectural applications. The use of sustainable materials aligns with environmentally conscious practices, which can be appealing to eco-minded clients. Fuller Architectural Panels handcrafted Rattan millwork offers a blend of artistry, customization, and sustainability, making it an attractive option for Architects, Designers, and Clients looking for distinctive architectural solutions.
